The success of a development can perhaps best be measured by how well it is received by buyers. And this is where Laguna Beach Resort finds itself poised amongst some of the most esteemed developments in Jomtien, Thailand. Developed by Heights Holdings, Laguna Beach Resort launched Building A with such overwhelming response that all the units are nearly fully sold shortly after it debuted in the market. And this has become the source of impetus for the developer to launch Building B ahead of schedule.

According to a spokesman for the development, "Sales have been amazing for the low season – even we have been surprised, but pleasantly so. This is probably our fastest selling project ever. We sold a large number of units before we had the official launch, interest has been that great."

But this is perhaps not unexpected given the outstanding value proposition of the development. A luxurious resort, Laguna Beach Resort is a three-building development only 600 metres from the sea. Boosting a land area of 7,800 square metres at the intersection of
